

Global Optimization

0.1 Constraints for all coupling strategies on a segment

In this section, we will try to understand the constraints that all valid coupling strategies on a segment must satisfy. For the purpose of this section, we will assume that our DiPA consists of a single segment. This assumption will be relaxed in later sections.

A coupling strategy is a function